

The Daily Orange

Volume XVIII, Number 65

Syracuse, New York

Monday, January 23, 1989

Senate proposes tuition hike

By SHERYL KAHN

Syracuse University students can anticipate a 12.5 percent hike in tuition next year, according to a proposal by the University Senate's budget committee.

The proposal will be presented to the full Senate at a meeting Wednesday.

To enact the tuition hike, the budget must be approved by the University Senate, Chancellor and the Board of Trustees.

If approved by the Senate Wednesday, the Board of Trustees will vote on the budget at its next meeting scheduled for Feb. 3.

The proposed increase would drive total tuition costs, including room and board, to $15,883 for the 1989-90 term, according to the report by the Senate Committee on Budgets and Fiscal Affairs.

The hike represents a 10.7 percent increase over this year's total tuition cost of $14,351.

Under the proposed budget, room fees will increase by 7.5 percent, from $2,300 to $2,472; while board charges will increase 6.5 percent, from $2,230 to $2,376.

The health fee is expected to go up 7.9 percent, from $178 to $192.

In addition, the College of Law

tuition is expected to increase 12.5 percent next year, from $11,270 to $12,680.

The committee also proposes that graduate school tuition increase 12.5 percent, from $289 per credit hour to $325 per credit hour.

The total budget for 1989-90 is set at $403.5 million, a 9.3 percent increase over this year's budget, according to the report.

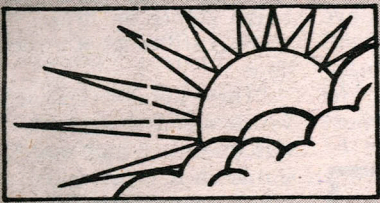

The Senate committee will call for a 22 percent increase in financial aid and an 8.5 percent increase in salary and fringe benefits for faculty and staff.

See TUITION Page 7

Academic year	Tuition	Percent increase
1974-75	$3,030	---
1975-76	$3,300	10.6
1976-77	$3,650	9.3
1977-78	$3,900	6.8
1978-79	$4,150	6.4
1979-80	$4,500	8.4
1980-81	$4,950	10.0
1981-82	$5,544	12.0
1982-83	$6,220	12.0
1983-84	$6,700	7.7
1984-85	$7,140	6.5
1985-86	$7,570	6.0
1986-87	$8,140	8.0*
1987-88	$8,710	7.0
1988-89	$9,560	9.8
1989-90	$10,760	12.5

*Estimated percent increase

WEATHER

Here comes the sun?

Strange to see the sun in a Syracuse sky, but the warmer temperatures and brighter skies of yesterday will continue.

INDEX

Opinion3
Sports18
Comics34
Classifieds35

NEWS

The right to privacy

Do cameras and microphones have any place in our private lives. A journalist takes a critical look at her profession.

SEE PAGE 36

SPORTS

Orangemen end losing streak

The SU Orangemen ignore the "luck of the Irish" and end a three game losing streak in South Bend.

SEE PAGE 18

1406!

Syracuse University women's basketball forward Felisha Legette receiving congratulations from her teammates and mother Thalia after Saturday's 77-60 victory over the University of Connecticut at Manley Field House. The senior tri-captain scored 13 points and broke the all-time SU women's basketball scoring record during the game. See story page 21.

ROTC commemorates victim of plane crash

By LISA A. BAST

About 60 members of the Syracuse University ROTC division gathered at Hendricks Chapel Saturday night to remember one of their own, Tim Cardwell, who died in the Pan Am 103 crash.

The Hendricks Chapel Choir gathered to sing for Cardwell, who was also a member of the choir.

An SU chaplain, the Rev. Paul J. Kowalewski, conducted the service.

"We reflect upon death, mortal life and what we intend to do with our remaining days," Kowalewski said.

Kowalewski said it is time to live our lives again.

"That doesn't mean to forget about the terrible tragedy," he said. "No, what it does mean is that we must be about living a life of our own that will honor the dead."

Kowalewski suggested two key virtues for people to live their lives with: hope and forgiveness.

"Every emotion like this is going to lead to another emotion," he said. "Grief will lead to either despair or hope."

Entreating the members of ROTC seated in the audience to let their grief take the path to hope, Kowalewski made an assumption about why they joined ROTC.

"I would imagine that most of you got into ROTC to discover the more noble qualities within yourself," he said. "and feeling anger won't diminish the nobility you are feeling."

However, Kowalewski warned, the feelings anger may lead to can be very devastating. Therefore, one must feel the other virtue: forgiveness.

"I believe any real justice starts with forgiveness," he said. "Honor Tim Cardwell by the noble lives we shall live."

Lt. Col. Richard Hawley also said a few words about Cardwell.

"(Cardwell) had an intense commitment to everything he undertook," Hawley said. "He demonstrated this with not just words but actions."

Hawley reminisced about one weekend — the weekend of October 1987 — Cardwell spent in Fort Dix, N.J. with the Ranger Club, a group of cadets who seek extra training.

"Although he was only a younger member, Tim gave 100 percent of himself to help a very inexperienced team finish near the top," Hawley said.

"Tim, your friends, fellow ROTC members, the Army and the nation will miss you and the leadership you have provided," Hawley said.

Bush begins new era

By JOHN WILSON

On a chilly Friday January day in Washington D.C., George Herbert Walker Bush was inaugurated as the 41st President of the United States.

Inauguration Day, a day filled with pomp and glory, took place on the West Side of the Capitol building. The inauguration ceremony began with the invocation by Rev. Billy Graham. Supreme Court Justice Sandra Day O'Connor then swore in James Danforth Quayle as Vice President.

George Bush, before tens of thousands of onlookers, with his five children, grandchildren, wife and 87-year-old mother, was sworn in as President by Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist.

After his oath of office, the Marine band played "Hail to the Chief" with a 21-gun salute in the background.

In his inaugural address, Bush made several references to a new breeze that is blowing "in a nation refreshed by freedom."

"There's new ground to be broken and new action to be taken," Bush said.

Bush described America as "democracy's front porch," where many op-

See BUSH Page 2